

A romantic silhouette of a man and a woman embracing on a grassy bank overlooking a body of water at sunset. The sky is a vibrant orange and yellow, with the sun low on the horizon, creating a strong backlight effect. The man is standing and holding the woman, who has her arms around his neck and one leg lifted. The water reflects the warm colors of the sky, and the distant shoreline is visible with some trees and structures.

“I know your works, your toil and your patient endurance, and how you cannot bear with those who are evil, but have tested those who call themselves apostles and are not, and found them to be false. I know you are enduring patiently and bearing up for my name's sake, and you have not grown weary. But I have this against you, that you have abandoned the love you had at first. Remember therefore from where you have fallen; repent, and do the works you did at first.”

To the one who conquers I will grant to eat of the tree of life, which is in the paradise of God.’

Table Discussion

1. Remember - What kinds of things did you “do at first” that you have let die?
2. Repent - What attitudes or excuses have you let stop you from investing in your marital intimacy?
3. Repair - Do you have any ideas for things you can do “as you did at first”?
4. Rejoice - What is/are the top 1 or 2 things about your spouse that you love and value the most? What is your favorite thing about being married to your spouse?
